POLICY OF ISOLATION DANGEROUS FOR CANADA

MANY NATIONS CAST COVETOUS EYES THIS WAY

Sir Robert Falconer says Canada Too Rich in Resources to Remain Long Without Protection of Powerful Nation.

SAKATON, May 12.—"If Canada takes up the policy of isolating itself from the rest of the world, then we must eventually join with the United States." This was the suggestion which Sir Robert Falconer, former president of the University of Toronto, and one of Canada's outstanding students of foreign affairs, laid down last night on the topic "Canada's interest in foreign affairs."

It was his belief that Canada was too rich in resources and too centrally located to remain long without the protection of some more powerful country. Many nations would cast covetous eyes on the country if it tried to live entirely on its own.

IMPORTANCE OF LEAGUE

A great part of the distinguished speaker's address was devoted to a consideration of the importance of the League of Nations in a new world order which he was envisaging.

Sir Robert stressed the point that he was not anti-American or a flag-waver. However, he wished to keep Canada in the tradition of Great Britain. "I want my life and my son's life to remain under the same cultural influence and heritage that it has been," he concluded.

TRIGS COMMON POLICY

The speaker strongly urged a common policy with Britain. As long as Britain and the nations of the British Commonwealth continued to stand for removal of the causes of war, and restraint of that which was the cause of danger of a split in the commonwealth. All would stand for a common policy—a world policy for the introduction of a new order in international affairs.

Canada's interest in foreign affairs, Sir Robert declared, was greater than that of the United States. It was impossible for the Canadian people to live to themselves. The nation depended on the world for the sale of its wheat, its lumber and other natural products.

Its interest lay along the lines of peace and the removal of barriers to international trade. Most of its domestic problem rose from the international situation.

COULD NOT KEEP OUT

Sir Robert could not agree with many Canadian isolationists. It was the belief of the isolationists that Canada should withdraw itself from world turmoil, particularly the difficulties of Europe. They based this belief on the presumption that

TRANS-CANADA AIRWAY URGED IN PARLIAMENT

Vancouver M.P. Advocates Bold Policy on Civil Aviation

OTTAWA, May 12.—Inauguration of a "bold, aggressive policy" on civil aviation is urged in the house of commons last night by H. C. Green (Cons., Vancouver South). Speaking in the budget debate Mr. Green asked the federal government to take the earliest possible moment and give leadership to the development of aviation.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Canada had already made substantial progress in aviation but it had all come about by private enterprise with very little assistance from the government. Mail contracts had been given in some cases but in the aggregate air mail had resulted in a profit to the government.

FUTURE IN NORTH

"Our future lies in the north," said Mr. Green. "Our destiny is to become a great northern nation and not a west-pointed edition of the United States."

The Trans-Canada airway was urged as the main artery of the world left unopened, he went on. The other two were the Trans-Atlantic route and the Trans-Pacific route and the Trans-Atlantic would be opened.

SHORTEST AIR ROUTE

Across Canada lay the shortest air route between Great Britain and the Orient, 3,000 miles shorter than by way of the United States. If the Canadian route were not opened soon Canada would be in the unpleasant position of holding up a vast network of empire air communications.

PLASTER PARIS URGED AS SEAL FOR DUST BOWL

United Press

NORMAN, Okla., May 12.—Sealing the Southwestern dust bowl with plaster of paris has been advanced as a scientific method for controlling wind erosion and conserving rainfall.

The idea was promulgated by Dr. B. Sears, biologist at the University of Oklahoma, who is reported to be seeking federal funds for experimentation.

Sears, author of "Deserts on the March," is a foremost conservationist and has expressed concern over the loss of fertility in parts of the Southwest, particularly in regions of scanty rainfall.

The plastic material would be spread over the ridges of plowed fields, the furrows being left open, free to trap and utilize every drop of moisture. Water would be retained at the roots of growing plants.

The Church of England bishop, addressing a diocesan conference, said the word "looked in vain for any outspoken denunciation of head of the largest Christian community in the world, whose seat of government is at Rome and who is claimed to be the vicar of Christ on earth."

FARM RELIEF ACT INVALID

United Press

ST. PAUL, May 12.—United States court of appeals for the eighth circuit Monday ruled unconstitutional one farm relief measure sponsored by Senators L. J. Frazier and Representative William Latta as the house of representatives in Washington voted to consider another.

Held invalid was the amended Frazier-Latta Farm Mortgage Moratorium Act.

The appeals court held "the conclusion is inescapable the Amended Mortgage Moratorium Act with its provision for a three year stay, violated the fifth amendment because it takes from an appellant without compensation, valuable rights in the mortgage property and gives them to the appellee."

TRADE TREATY

BENEFIT FELT

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—C. T. Davis, attorney-general of Saskatchewan, said Monday that the new regional trade treaty between the United States and Canada has already exerted a beneficial economic effect upon the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

On route north on the liner Santa Paula, Davis said all of Western Canada's basic industries have been materially aided by the treaty.

Western Canada's cattle industry has virtually been saved from extermination by favorable tariffs of the new agreement, he asserted.

ROUNDUP LAW OF OLD WEST IN USE AGAIN

United Press

MEDFORD, Ore., May 12.—Wild West days are being re-lived here. An outlaw band of 100 wild horses has been ordered rounded up by the Jackson County court on the complaint of 19 stockmen acting under a state law that has not been invoked for years.

The horses, which have the freedom of the range near the Oregon-California state line, are "abandoned, starving and neglected, constituting a range nuisance," according to the court. The band has trampled grazing land, raided alfalfa fields, broken down fences and kicked, yanked livestock to death with their flashing hoofs, stock ranchers say.

The horses will be held in the corral for ten days as owners of branded animals that have turned wild may claim them. State law requires the rest of the horses be sold to the highest bidder at auction. Some will go to rodeos.

WINTER WHEAT CROP IS DOWN

United Press

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A winter wheat crop of 1935—about a decrease of six per cent from the previous estimate because of unfavorable weather in April—was forecast for the United States Monday by the federal crop reporting board.

The board said 33,932,000 acres remained for harvest out of a total of 47,520,000 acres sown last fall. Abandonment was 24.4 per cent compared to 30.4 per cent at the same date last year. The condition of the crop on May 1 was 67.0 compared to 75.3 per cent in 1935 and an average condition of 81.2 per cent on that date from 1923 to 1932.

Production of winter wheat in 1935 was 423,447,000 bushels. The 10-year average being 618,186,000 bushels. The low estimate for this year marks the fifth light crop in succession.

Finland Supplies Telegraph Poles Used In Britain

LONDON, May 12.—Most of the telegraph poles used in Britain are imported from Finland owing to lack of British leaders. Postmaster General G. C. Tryon revealed in the house of commons Monday.

Asked by Colonel Harry Day, Labor, whether it was impossible to purchase the poles from the Dominions, Minister Tryon answered: "We would be very happy to entertain them, but we have not had any offers from the Dominions."

A PERSONAL LETTER to the stenographers of Canada, from J. J. SEITZ, PRESIDENT OF UNDERWOOD-ELLIOTT-FISHER on the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the firm by him.

UNDERWOOD ELLIOTT FISHER LIMITED

A. J. SEITZ, PRESIDENT

UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITERS
BROADWAY
135 KING STREET
TORONTO-CANADA

To the Typists, Stenographers, and Secretaries of Canada.

Through forty years of endeavour I can look back to that distant time when it was given to me to found the organization now known, from coast to coast, as Underwood-Elliott-Fisher Limited. The intervening years have brought days of difficulty and doubt, days of fulfillment and reassurance.

I have seen many dreams of mine come true, for in 1896, with the enthusiasm of youth, I dreamed of three things that I might be able to accomplish. I envisioned the day when I could produce, in Canada, the most perfect writing-machine that science and experiment and patience could devise. I dreamed of helping the young men and young women of Canada to prepare themselves for their introduction into the field of business. I hoped to create some channel or agency which would place them, duly trained, in the secretarial and other positions that the growth of Canadian business would increasingly provide.

Now, these early dreams of mine have been transformed into reality. I have seen the machine I hoped to build in Canada, accepted and established throughout the Dominion, so that today the vast majority of typewriters used in this country are UNDERWOODS. I have seen half a million young men and young women entering into business life with the confidence that training can give, finding opportunities through the organization I have been able to construct for that purpose. Many of these young men and women have attained to places of importance in industry and commerce.

I appreciate the opportunity which has been mine to serve successive generations of Canadian youth and I would be ungrateful indeed if I did not record my own appreciation of the loyalty and support which these young men and women have given to the organization which I founded forty years ago. To all of you, I want to express my personal gratitude for the support you have given me and my associates in the building of this business.

Sincerely yours,

J. J. Seitz

WHERE FLIERS ARE MADE

Winnipeg gave a fine and enthusiastic welcome to Hollick-Kenyon and Lynburner, the two Canadian pilots who flew Ellsworth into the frozen wastes of Antarctica, from which the three were rescued. The Canadian pilots, the congratulations and the pride—which Winnipeg thus expressed are in the minds of Canadians everywhere.

Mr. Hollick-Kenyon, speaking of the adventure, said, flying in the Arctic was a lot like flying in the tropics. He compared to some of the flights over northern fliers make in the course of business. Having flown the northern routes himself, this tribute to the pilots of the north could come from authority. That it is deserved, the record supplies the proof.

Canada's sub-arctic provide one of the best training grounds in the world for airmen, because it is one of the most difficult. Men who navigate planes in the north in all weather conditions, can fly anywhere.

STILL "SAVING THE FRANC"

The Bank of France has hoisted the discount rate again, to try to stop another flight of gold. The bank started the rate at 10 per cent, but carried half that amount around the channel. It was no doubt to the credit of a Left majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

The discount rate is now 6 per cent. That means dear money in France, for Government purposes and business. It is a sign of trouble understanding what this implies in high taxation, unpayable debts, and dead trade. They have been through this before.

"Managed currency" is a term of horrible import to the orthodox everywhere—except in Great Britain, where even bankers are using it now without giving a thought to its meaning. France has been very orthodox on the Sound Money question—having once tried the opposite folly of uncontrolled inflation, to its lasting sorrow.

The fact is, currency is always "managed." The only questions are who does the managing, and by what rule. In the case of the franc, managing is done by banks, in a more or less fictitious relationship to the amount of gold on hand. That system has collapsed, and is passing. France is clinging to it, waiting for the chance it may be reinstated. The franc would be off gold now but for official manipulation to preserve the tradition at any price to the nation.

THERE HAD TO BE A LIMIT

Apparently the Government of Alberta thought the Dominion Government would match the province dollar-for-dollar for road-building purposes up to any amount the province might be able to put up. Hence the Ministerial announcements of a road-building program which might run to $2,000,000 during the present year, and which suggested an amount of new construction rivaling the whole mileage of gravelled highways in the province.

This inference may have been possible from the view in which the Dominion Government paid to the facts of the situation. The Dominion could not offer to take on a free-for-all spending contest with the provinces on that basis without running into the danger of paying anything up to $50,000,000 for highway building in a single year.

Perhaps the Dominion should spend that amount of money for a service which is supposed to belong exclusively to the provinces, but there was no ground for supposing it would do so. There had to be a limit, or the proportions of the federal deficit would be simply unmanageable. An attempt to balance the Dominion budget, creditable as it may seem, goes along with free rein to the provinces in saying how much the Dominion would spend on their road account.

The amount allocated to Alberta from the federal treasury, $400,000, is not large enough. It should be raised to at least $500,000. That, with a like contribution from the provinces, would provide perhaps as much money as the provincial authority could spend to the best advantage. In any event it is a good deal as there was valid reason to suppose the Dominion would supply.

If the provincial Ministers allowed their imaginations to invest them with power to say how much the Dominion would spend on highways—which they apparently did—they had no warrant for so doing. And they have no ground now to claim the Dominion is backing or "obstructing" them in setting a limit—though the limit set is too low.

NEW EXEMPTIONS

Some more items have been added to the list of commodities exempted from the sales tax.

Building materials produced or processed in Alberta are tax-free if used in the construction of an industrial plant.

Goods bought on the instalment plan and delivered before the end of April may be paid for without payment of the tax.

Industrial machinery, equipment and supplies used in the development or processing of natural products are free of the tax.

School books and supplies have been exempted.

Farm and ranch buildings are not taxable when built or erected before January 1, 1935.

Machinery, equipment and supplies used by transportation companies are tax-free.

Farm equipment and tools are added to the exemption.

Each item added to the list is an improvement of the tax measure, since it lessens the amount of buying power to be taken away from the public.

The continuous addition of tax-free items and exemptions is a pleasant sign of the government's own contentment with the sales tax.

The Premier at Calgary when he said there has been very little complaint about the tax. The fact is there are complaints being made under a hot fire of popular protest, accompanied by threats to buy outside the province.

There are plenty of reasons to lift the ban in other places, to the removal of injustice, the benefit of business, and the mitigation of the economic depression.

This latest list of supplementary exemptions, in building materials, is tax-free if used in putting up a factory, but not if used in putting up a house.

Who builds a house also gives employment to labor, adds to the fixed assets of the community, but tax is exacted for it. This is a strictly Alberta problem.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COUPER

I shall really have to get another photo and a new engraving for the masthead of this column. The customers have been complaining that the old one has faded. The picture is a good job of it, and a change from grinning and smiling. The Dominion is looking a little better in setting a limit—though the limit set is too low.

All ranged in vain. You know the fable of Aescop around him. Then came the sun with its warm, kindly rays, and the traveler took off his cloak. So has it been with me. Gratitude has won, as it always will.

A religious from Grande Prairie has done what candid friends and chaps with a genial desire to have found failed to accomplish. I'm going to have another picture taken, in more human guise.

Brother Ernest when he looked at it, said "I got God's sake!" Angered readers have made spiteful remarks about it. I shall really have to get another photo and a new engraving for the masthead of this column.

Goitre

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

Goitre is a disease said to have been found in every country in the world, and many theories have been advanced as to its cause. For a long time it was supposed that the absence of iodine in food was responsible for this condition, and this idea undoubtedly has a large measure of truth in it. However, lack of food iodine can not be the sole cause of goitre inasmuch as the disease is present in some of the most fertile soils of the world, and in some of the most fertile soils of the world, and in some of the most fertile soils of the world.

The fact that goitre is prevalent in Switzerland and other mountainous districts where people do not obtain much iodine in their drinking water or food would seem to prove the theory that the absence of iodine is the principal cause but this still does not explain the occurrence of goitre in districts close to the seashore, where plenty of food iodine is ingested. I believe that at least two factors are at work in producing the enlargement of the thyroid gland known as goitre. The first factor is the lack of iodine and the second factor is the presence of some cause which interferes with the iodine being properly absorbed.

Gray Has Required Score in Detroit Section; 1,200 Contenders

NEW YORK, May 12.—Robert T. Gray, Jr., of Windsor, Ont., earned the right to try for the United States open golf crown next month, by shooting two steady rounds at Detroit yesterday that were good enough for a qualifying berth.

Gray, professional at the Essex County Club, had the shot for a 36-hole round that read 73-75-146. He took one of the six qualifying places allotted to the Detroit area. Gray was best for that area with 148. Charles Koenig, well known Detroit amateur, had a 147 that also was good enough.

DEATHS

Jimmy Dine, freckled-faced pro from Bradbury, N.J., beat a brick wall and a bulky field of 156 to win the 1935 U.S. Open Golf Championship. He had a 36-hole aggregate of 150, five shots over par.

Willie Macfarlane, 1925 open titleholder, Jimmy Hines, third ranking money winner of last year, and George Voigt, Walter cup player, were in the battle that was won 18 holes.

Running second to Dine were Willie Griffin, Sr., of New York, 1033 P.G.A. finalist, Wiffy Cox, of Washington, D.C., Byron Nelson, of Ridgewood, N.J., and Albert Broch, of New York, who had 151.

Rudy Koenig, of Detroit, former Princeton star, lost the amateurs with 152.

Willie Klein, Joe Ezer, Henry Cusi, and Charles Lacey, former British pros, were among the better known New Yorkers who shot into the charmed circle.

Lefty Grove's Comeback With Red Sox Gives Wealthy Tom Yawkey Last Laugh

Leather Arm That Was Dead in 1934 Back To Life Again

By BILL BRANCHER
NEW YORK, May 12.—What seemed to be a bad bargain two years ago—$125,000 and two players for Lefty Grove—now appears to be the best buy that Tom Yawkey, young millionaire owner of the Red Sox, ever made.

Grove, showing no far this season all the qualities that made him the greatest pitcher in the game a few years ago with the Athletics, has said himself that he believes he can duplicate his fine performance of 1933 when he won 31 games and lost four. That was an all-time record percentage.

With his arm again up-to-top condition, Grove may even better that mark, for he is a smarter pitcher now, depending more on control and a curve than the fireball he used to shoot past the batters at screaming speed.

PROVED HIMSELF

If Grove hadn't already proved himself the greatest left-hander in the game over his career, surely he has not less than undone toward establishing the fact. To be sure, he hasn't led in the outfielders and the infielders, but he has led in the story about Rube Waddell, already a better than the record, and Grove is a more dependable pitcher than the best right hand.

While going about the business of his first five games this year, Grove pitched 42 consecutive innings in which he allowed the enemy just one earned run. He shut out the Athletics in the first game of the season, and he pitched one of the longest games in the league. One of his games was a doubleheader. Whenever he chooses to turn on the steam he strikes them out.

At Westmont the boys have now organized a baseball team consisting of local teams. The ragbans are Kishish, Franks, Spenser and Russell. Mr. A. MacIntosh is in charge of organizing and the schedule will commence today.

At Victoria the various softball teams are operating at top speed. In the boys section Bishop trimmed Fallmouth 16-13. In the Girls, Nine, local Victoria took Spruce into camp 14 to 8. The Victoria team defeated Riverdale 21 to 18.

In the Girls' league things were hot up for two days by rain but the weekend-two games were played in which the "Mighty" defeated the Stones 44 to 15 and the Cranes 44 to 15. The girls of a 31-13 won in their league with the Spruces.

Talking to the creator of the Victoria school tennis court, he informs me that all seven courts will be in operation again this year. The two tennis courts are busy on good days. There aren't too much rain here hopes to have them ready for play on Wednesday. The other five he hopes to have ready within a few days. So the tennis courts start tomorrow up the old racquet and tennis and could also do a little hoping for dry weather.

Civics Practice
Civics football club will practice Tuesday night at the Rainbow grounds. Players are requested to meet at the car barns as usual.

Worked Hard To Keep Team Up In Race Last Season

run average for 1935 was 270, the best in the league, and he won 20 better Boston team behind him, there's no telling where the little southpaw from Leansing, Md., will stop.

THE BIG CHANGE

The big change in Grove's pitching style is not easy to see. He hasn't any new trick delivery. But he depends more upon control, pitches more to a batter's weakness than he did in the days when he could shoot that hard one in all day long.

There has been a marked change in his disposition, however. He is now a more amiable man to interview. Gamblers are not on his mind, and he is hard to get along with. Once he broke a lens when he was out of his mind.

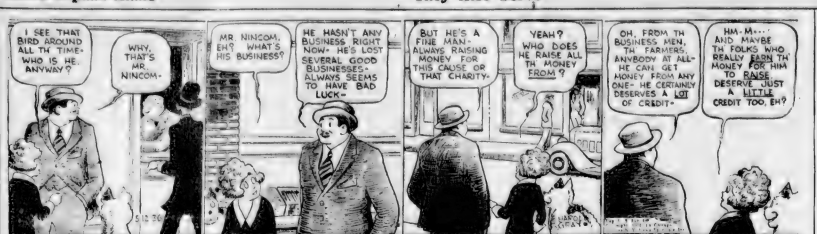

LOST ON THE ROAD

He was as temperamental as a roomful of starving tigers when he came to the Athletics from Baltimore, back in 1923, and just about as wild. His former teammate, Jimmy Dykes, suggested that perhaps Mr. Mack ought to put him in the bullpen, for the bench to wear while Lefty was out there throwing that fast ball at random. Grove could pitch shutouts in those days, and strike out sluggers, but he was not kept him sweating. And if Mickey Vernon, who was a pitcher, Grove surely would have led the league in wild pitches.

He started to clock in 1929, and in four years since has led the league in percentage. Now, 20 years old, Grove not only has led the league in percentage, but also in a general percentage.

Comparing him to Waddell in the matter of wild pitches, Grove has won 20 more games in his 11 full years than Waddell, who won 31 major league seasons. Waddell won 103 games in 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, "Thanks awfully for doing the deed thing, I'm afraid I can't," the animal said, and then he swung away with a look of relief.

CHAPTER XXI
THE ANIMAL SERVICE: Basil Thorne said.

"So am I," Linda answered. "She might play to a role by accident or as a civilized hour of the day, but it was too much to expect of her at this hour of the morning."

Her thought just then concerned nothing more romantic than a hot tub and fresh clothing. Whatever she was doing, she was doing it for the sake of the animal. She expected her to be romantic. At least, she thought he did, since he had proposed to her.

It was entirely apparent to him that she was not in the mood to discuss the matter. She probably wanted her first thing in the morning. The animal was not to be surprised—confronted upon her. Confound it! He didn't want to get married!

The big white car sped over the road, and the bright headlights and broke into a flame of color. The rising sun and wakening world, built the two roads, hurried the great cars, and the tired and fatigued, with their separate thoughts.

It was not until he was afraid of him, Linda wondered. He had been nice just now and now he was meek as a lamb. And he had been so kind to her. He had offered her marriage instead of a kiss. The animal was not to be surprised—confronted upon her. Confound it! He didn't want to get married!

That was precisely what Basil Thorne was thinking in his gloom. The idea of marriage appalled him, but he gradually admitted that once he had seen Linda was the only acceptable way. The more he thought about it, the more it became to him. He was not the smooth continuity of life with this well-bred girl. His mental picture of her was not drawn from a composite series of photographs and movie sequences. It was a conglomerate range of pictures in a flowing gown, pouring tea, Linda with her laughing children in faultless English clothes, and the animal was not to be surprised—confronted upon her. Confound it! He didn't want to get married!

It was a conglomerate range of pictures in a flowing gown, pouring tea, Linda with her laughing children in faultless English clothes, and the animal was not to be surprised—confronted upon her. Confound it! He didn't want to get married!

Linda was very much bored and entirely fed up with her speech. "I haven't ever had advantages my background wasn't the sort that makes me feel that I have character and I have gotten somewhere in the world. A girl like you would be making no bad bargain." He looked out of the corner of his eye at her. That was going over. It wasn't to be tried a new line. "I suppose it will sound funny to you, my dear, but I've always wanted a woman to mother me. My own dear mother died when I was a little chap. A man can grow up starved for that kind of love, and few women ever accept to him that way."

"I'm sorry you think I am that one," she said. "I'm not, finally. I hope you are mistaken. Because there isn't anything I do to show it. I don't love you, and I can't marry you." "I know that she loved Dick was going to work toward it. Hopefully, if he did, he would deny Dick his chance. The thing that she had been working toward to help him. It was someone else," he asked with his voice quivering at the low dramatic level.

She didn't know because she didn't want to lie; she smiled and said quickly, "Please let's turn off the radio here. At all, could we avoid meeting the others? And, once more please, Basil, you promise never to breathe a word about this." "He told me about it, Linda. There was only one way that they might be discovered and that was if either she or Basil Thorne said a word to tell about it. There was no simulated intimacy in her plan to him."

Thorne hugged her with his free arm. "You're too much!" he said. "You're too much!" "That wasn't nearly reassuring, and a little that day Linda remembered. She didn't think of the moon when he had said it. She felt the beginning of a shadow of doubt that she was going to get married."

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The old prospector's bird was strong. Said Duncy, "Take me right along. I don't know where you bound for, but I have a happy bunch."

The Tinies are far away, but we will get to them later. I certainly will be real tickled when I show them.

About a half hour passed, and

"My good friend, the prospector, sent you out for me. Toss his intent to save me from a long hike. This my guess. I'm sure he's right. To all the Tinies has been kind, and there's no place where you will find a finer man. You've saved me from a very scary plight!"

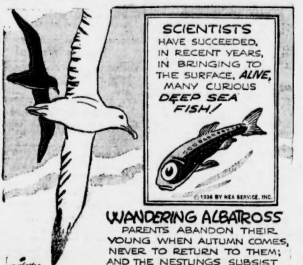

"The bird just chirped, and flew along. For quite a long time might went wrong. Then, up above, some black clouds gathered, blotting out the sun. Thought Duncy, 'It will rain. Till he, and then I will get soaked. Well, little bird, go up above the clouds! Can it be done? The small bird promptly circled then they started dropping down again. By now the clouds had blown away and everything was clear. All of a sudden Duncy spied the Tinies below. One cried, 'We'll hold a blanket for you, lad. Come on, now drop down here!' The blanket then spread out wide and to the bird brave Duncy cried, 'Please let go of my shoulder! I am not afraid to fall!' He quickly landed, safe and sound around. The Tinies held on tightly. Then came laughter from them all.

Curious World

WANDERING ALBATROSS
PARENTS ABANDON THEIR YOUNG WHEN AUTUMN COMES, NEVER TO RETURN TO THEM; THE NESTLINGS SURVIVE WITHOUT FOOD FOR 2 MONTHS

FOOTBALL HELMETS
ARE WORN BY MODERN AMERICAN CLIMBERS;
NINETY PER CENT OF ALL CLIMBING INJURIES RESULT FROM FALLING ROCKS.

The wandering albatross nests in the Antarctic regions, and by the middle of July, the young birds are quite as large as their parents, who are alone among the world of furs, with 11-foot wingspread. Then the parents desert their young, and the nestlings take no food until they learn to fly, some three months later.

NEXT: What makes the trail of a fox easy to recognize?

What's Your Number

Numerology Series

—By Mario

1 Birth Force

Her "1" Birth Force, according to numerology, is the greatest of all vibrations for driving force, with power and determination. The "1" Personality is one of aristocracy, while the "3" of her Destiny is the force of either great success or equally equal failure. Her "1" is seen in the power which made her "3" react to success, science of numbers says. She was, in school, a talented athlete doing the 100 yard dash in 12 seconds. She wanted to be a troupe artist. A "1" gives in greater ambition and, having done a part in a film, she decided upon a stage career, but she failed a spectacular course, which she had started in college in New York.

8 Destiny

She became private secretary to Mrs. W. N. Vandewater, later to Mrs. Dwight Morrow, toured Europe eight years and then still anxious to become an actress, went into a stock company, and finally obtained a screen contract, first appearing with Walter Huston in "Gentlemen of the Press." She rapidly climbed to stardom, as a "1" will and now is one of the biggest of the First National headliner. She loves clothes, as a "1" Personality demands, and is known as one of the best dressed women in films. So far, her affairs of the heart have not been successful, which is frequently the case of a No. 1 person with a No. 3 heart force.

6 Personality

Kay still loves athletic sports and goes in for hiking and fishing; she can find complete matrimonial happiness. Numerology declares, with anyone whose Birth Force is "6" and her best best is 3, 6 or 9. Her best dates are July 21 to Aug. 26 or March 21 to April.
